Dear Friends of Adams County,

The Adams County Historical Society (ACHS) invites you to participate in a new business partnership program that will expand your visibility within Adams County and ensure that your business's role in our community is put in the spotlight. At the same time, you will play a vital role in the preservation and protection of priceless local history of national significance. ACHS preserves over one million historic items and serves the public with free educational programs for all ages, tours, and reading rooms where we assist with genealogy, historic property research, and research on a wide variety of county history topics of interest. We serve nearly 1,000 members and our social media posts typically reach an audience of over 10,000 residents and visitors to the area.
